

Communicating about abstracts

- Accepted abstracts may not be published in any other medium prior to presentation. This applies to journal publication, press releases, fact sheets and any other informational, promotional, publicity or marketing materials, whether printed or electronic, which contain or describe abstract content.
- Embargo policy: Press releases or stories on information presented at the Ocular Oncogenesis and Oncology Conference may not be released or published until the conclusion of the presentation.
- ARVO does not share its news release distribution list or its list of journalist attendees with outside organizations.
- ARVO accepts no responsibility for any products, presentations, opinions, statements or positions expressed; and inclusion of such material within the Conference, the publications or posted online does not constitute an endorsement by ARVO.
- ARVO does not take responsibility for providing updated information relating to material presented in abstracts.
- The abstract cannot be reprinted in its entirety.
- Direct quotations from abstracts are limited to 50 words or less. Paraphrases of abstract content are acceptable.
